A CHANGE OF WEATHER.-The hot weather has given place to entirely new conditions, and the temperature is pleasant, although Jupiter Piuvius has reigned supreme since yesterday. The still northeast wind which set in several days ago brought rain yesterday, and there were occasional showers which continued during the night. They have been more copious today, and things without doors have been in a bedraggled condition, and people compelled to move about have been hurrying to and fro and jumping gutters and puddles formed in payements by missing bricks. Teams with horses sleek from the almost incessant rain have rattled over the cobblestones at accelerated gaits, and letter carriers, messengers, gatherers and the many compelled to circulate through the city have shot by one another in haste to fulfill their duties as quickly as possible. It has been a bad day for corner loiterers, most geze at one particular point of the comoass all day were scattered into small squads and forced to seek doorways or return to homes they had left. The aspect around the wharves was uninviting. A few groups of men sought refuge under sheds and glared to have any business with the Clerk of the Court. Everyone encountered seemed limp and lifeless and altogether out of sorts. An itiuerant organ grinder made many futile attempts to relieve Henry, advertised to be sold today at the situation, but even "Dixie" failed public auction, was withdrawn without to animate or draw crowds. SCARCITY OF ICE.—The schooner W. H. Oler, from the Kennebec, has arrived with ice for W. M. Reardon. The recent hot spell has brought large requisitions on the stocks of ice in this city and Washington, and there is con-siderable anxiety in the latter place as to whether the supply will last until another cargo arrives. A large schoon-er loaded with the much desired article is on her way to Washington, and a bonus of one hundred dollars apart from the regular towage charges is to be paid to the tugboat which intercepts her and brings her up the river. The mock of ice in Alexandria has been considerably depleted by the demands from the capital city and Richmond, and nine carloads were shipped to the latter place during the past day or two. This demand has, of course, kept the ice factories busy. The prevailing cool spell may cause a lull in the demand, but conditions are liable to undergo a change in a short time, and should there be delay in arrivals from the Kennebec much inconvenience may yet be experienced.

AFTER NUISANCES,—Under the di-rection of acting Mayor Paff, the police are moving against hog pens within the city's limits, also against all other nui-sances that breed foul and unhealthy odors. Mr. Paff vesterday afternoon odors, Mr. Paff yesterday afternoon accompanied by Chief Webster visited the locality complained of in yesterday's Gazette and took immediate steps to have all such nuisances abated. He have all such nuisances abated. gave the owners of the hog pens forty. eight hours in which to remove them beyond the city limits and also notified them that they must be kept in a sanitary condition even when within a mile of Alexandria. It is understood that the recently elected board of health will take an active interest in the affairs under its control, and it is probable that the City Council will be requested to re-quested to revise the laws governing

DEATH OF ME. LANNON .- Mr. Thomas DEATH OF MR. LANNON.—Mr. Thomas Lannon, who had recently been criti-cally ill, died at his home, corner of Pitt and Cameron streets, at 12:15 o'clock today. The deceased had been in de-clining health for some time. He leaves a widow and five children—two sons San rises tomorrow at 4:44 s. m. and sets of age. Mr. Lannon was born in Ireland, at 7:28 p. m. Quiet and unobtrusive he soon gained the esteem of all who knew him and enjoyed it throughout life. He was a brotner of the late John Lannon, another of Alex-andria's prosperous and enterprising citizen in by-gone years. The deceased was for a long time a member of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul of St. Mary's Church.

RAN AWAY WITH THE MONEY .-Samuel Beander, colored, aged twelve years, who lives in this city, was picked up by the Baltimore police yesterday. The day previous his grandmother sent him for a can of baked beans, giving him a five-dollar bill from which to make the purchase. A mania for travel seized him and he boarded an electric car which carried him to Wash-ington. There he entered the depot of the Penneylvania Railroad Company and purchased a ticket for Baltimore. On arriving at Union station he became dissatisfied with such a short ride for his money and entered the ticket office and asked for a ticket to New York. The a boy of his age to travel. He refused to sell him the ticket, and instead noti-fied an officer, who escorted him to the police station. He is locked up pending the wish of his grandmother, who has been communicated with.

SENT HOME.-Harry and Albert Errickson, aged respectively thirteen and twelve years, were yesterday picked up by the police as vagrants, but later were sent to Millville, N. J., where they claim their mother lives. They recently lived with James Doug-las, a farmer, near Catletts station, he having taken them from an orphan asylum, Becoming dissatisfied, they decided to tramp to their old home. Upon reaching this city Thursday they were given food and shelter by Mrs. Nalls, on south Alfred street. It was their in-tention to continue their journey northward on foot, but Acting Mayor Paff and Rev. E. V. Regester sent them home by rail yesterday afternoon.

He was assisted by Grand Prelate W. H. May and Grand Master at Arms R. H. Hancock: been a bad day for corner loiterers, most of them having been forced from their retreats by the pitiless rain. The platoons which generally extend northward on Royal street from King and geze at one particular point of the compass all day were scattered into Norris; O. G., J. B. Florence.

THE MARKET this morning partook of the dismal conditions prevailing elsewhere in the city. The attendance of country people was limited and there was a notable falling off in buyers. Consequently green grocers had an increased number of customers. There were no marked changes in prices of country produce and the supply seemed suffi-cient for all demands. Those who bought did so hurriedly and with dripping umbrellas and bedraggled apparel left the scene as soon as possible.
